DEAR KILLED MANY SHEEP; MET DEATH

A large black bear, weighing at least 300 pounds, was trapped on the farm of William Marks, in Plumster Hollow between Hazelhurst and Smethport on the Kason road, on Thursday night. The animal was killed by a shot from a rifle after it was discovered.

Since last fall Marks has lost 22 sheep which were carried off and devoured by bears. Elmer Johnson, another farmer in Irish Hollow, in close proximity, lost 37 sheep while other nearby farmers report heavy losses. As a result the farmers in the other end of the county are up in arms and are going to take the matter up with the head of the state game department, to either reimburse them for their loss or else have an open season on bears.

Marks had laid in wait, baited traps and done everything in his power to capture the bear, and while his harshly sprung the trap on three different occasions, he was winning enough not to get caught, but for the honey used for bait each time. There are still three members of that particular Bruin family at large, the old mother bear and two cubs which have been seen from time to time, and have escaped several close calls from being killed by rifle shots.

It is estimated that sheep are worth at least $10.00 per head, and that from 50 to 75 have fallen victims to bears within the past six months.

KAY OSTRANDER IN- STANTLY KILLED FRIDAY

Accident occurred on Friday afternoon near Crosby. Funeral in charge of I. O. O. F. Sunday

Kay Ostrander, 12 years old, a well known resident of Smethport, was instantly killed Friday afternoon while at his work in the employ of the Chubb Gas Company on a house near Crosby.

Mr. Ostrander, in company with Miss Greeley, were hauling a well using a two pole derrick held in place by ropes. Ostrander suddenly noticed that one of the ropes was giving away and shouted to his companion to get out of danger. Greeley immediately rolled down a steep embankment which was close to the well, his impression at that time being that Ostrander was far enough to one side so that the poles could not strike him. However, this proved not to be the case as when Greeley climbed up the bank he found his fellow workman stretched on the ground breathing his last. One of the poles had crushed in the side of Ostrander's head and torn a large piece of flesh from the left side of his body.

The remains of the 12 year old boy were taken to his boarding place at Crosby and Coroner E. J. Williams of Bradford notified. He made an investigation and gave a certificate of accidental death.

The body was then taken to the home of Ray Abbey in Smethport and prepared for burial. Deceased is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Ray Abbey of Smethport and Mrs. John T. Corns of Kane. His father, Porter Ostrander, dropped dead while at his work on a highway near Smethport about a year ago.

Mr. Ostrander was an unmarried man of excellent reputation and his sudden death was a shock to his many friends.

Kay Ostrander was a member of the I. O. O. F., the Local Order of Moose and P. M. C. The funeral was held at St. Luke's church, Smethport, Sunday afternoon, Rev. W. E. VanDyke officiating. Burial in Rose Hill cemetery, and was in charge of the I. O. O. F. Lodge No. 339.

BOTTLE PLANT ASSURED

For sometime past the Conopus Club Committee has been interested in an effort to rehabilitate the bottle plant, which was destroyed by fire about four years ago, and it now seems that their efforts are being crowned with success.

It is the intention to make the new plant, a co-operative one with a capital of $36,000.00. Half of this stock to be taken by the workers and half by the citizens of Smethport.

Representatives of the blowers made a second visit to our town last week and with their engineers went over the site and materials thereon, and erection estimates are now being prepared.

The plans agreed upon calls for thirty six blowers who will take $500.00 stock each. Several will pay in full, and those unable to pay in full, will make a minimum cash payment of $200.00 and the remaining $300.00 will be paid by a deduction of 20% from each wage payment until amount is covered together with interest at 6% per annum.

Immediately upon the completion of the list of working stockholders which is now nearly filled, the local committee will receive citizen subscriptions.

This enterprise as proposed makes a very attractive investment as well as a big boom to our town and the $18,000.00 should be readily subscribed.

The bottle house works all the year round, at good wages, and one or more of these plants are very valuable assets to the industrial life of any town.

CRIMINAL COURT DOINGS

Grand Jury Discharged and Prisoners Sentenced.

Completing its deliberations in about one hour, reporting five indictments and being discharged at 4 o'clock p. m., the June Grand Jury set a new record for McKean county and was discharged with the thanks of the court. William Naxon of Bradford, was foreman. From hills returned were, against Edward H. Nosnitch, obtaining money under false pretence; Charles Deebly and Edward Fargo of Bradford, burglary, felonious entry and larceny; Frank Demeter and Mrs. Frank Edgerton, operating a motor vehicle with a wrong license tag.

Previous to the regular term of criminal court, which opened at 2 o'clock on Monday Judge Bouton convened a special term at 10 o'clock to hear the case of the Commonwealth, ex rel Bertha Smith vs. Merle C. Smith. The action was a habeas corpus proceeding involving the custody of Kenneth Smith, aged 7 years. The parties concerned are from Bradford. Hon. R. B. Stone represented the petitioners and William and Fitzgibbons the defendant. After listening to the unsavory testimony the Judge committed him to the County Home. The costs were assessed to Merle C. Smith.

Judge Bouton presided at the regular term in the afternoon. Most of the Kane Honor cases were continued to the October term because of the disappearance of William Pass, chief witness for the prosecution. A bench warrant was issued for the apprehension of Mr. Pass.

The case of chief interest to county residents, that of Joseph Twilliger, indicted for the murder of Henry F. Alvord at Bradford in December. When arraigned Twilliger pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree, but through his attorneys, Melvin and Skutuck, offered a plea of guilty of voluntary manslaughter. This plea was accepted by the district attorney and the court sentenced Twilliger to serve not less than seven nor more than ten years in the penitentiary.

Arthur Blake of Bradford, pleaded guilty to burglary, felonious entry and larceny and was sentenced to not less than one and one half nor more than three years in the penitentiary. He must also pay a fine of $5 and costs of prosecution. Blake was arrested with Charles Delair and Edward Fargo for the robbery of Mr. and Mrs. John Lamproy, an aged couple living on Niagara Run.

Thomas Cartier, arrested in a raid by state police in Bradford and the case continued from December, pleaded guilty to violation of the liquor law. He drew a fine of $500 and costs and sentenced to six months in the county jail.

Mary Ascone of Bradford, pleaded guilty to violation of the liquor law. It appeared, however that she was the wife of August Ascone and had acted under the latter's direction. In view of this fact she was fined $200 and must serve three months in jail.

Lewis A. Proper pleaded guilty to desertion and non-support and was ordered to pay $50 per month for the use of his wife.

The case of Mrs. Alvord Sheets of Kane, charged with unlawfully selling liquor, was not pressed, it appearing that her two sons had previously pleaded guilty and paid fines in connection with the particular offense charged.

Andrew Orzechowski of Kane, pleaded guilty to unlawfully selling liquor. He was penalized to the extent of a $500 fine and six months jail sentence.

William A. Ebinger, charged with desertion and non-support, was discharged, it appearing that his wife Mabel had departed with another man.

Case Continued.

The case of Lyle Lathan, charged with unnatural crimes was continued to the October term.

The indictment against Francis S. Schoening of Bradford, for assault and battery, was quashed. Similar disposition was made in the case of Stella DePalma and Catherine Onofrio, charged with the same offense.

Bryan Peterson of Bradford, indicted for issuing four checks without funds.

Dr. Louis W. Sherwin of Oil City delivered the Commencement address and emphasized three points as being of great importance to those just starting out in life. He said to take yourself seriously, to be afraid to work, and to have a high ideal. His development of these points was listened to very carefully by the audience.

A brief address of welcome was given by Howard Strong, the president of the class and a quartette, Maxine Sasse, Charlotte Spanogle, Rosa Provin and Emily McCoy sang "The Thrush" very pleasingly.

Miss Harriett Tuttle played the second Mazurka in a very charming manner, after which Virginia Bailley portrayed the future of her classmates very cleverly.

NO ELECTRIC POLES TO BE ERECTED

A petition is being signed asking that in connection with the extension of the Electric line which is now being made into town, that all poles be eliminated, and that wires be placed in conduits along and under the pavement on Main street.

The business people are almost unanimous in asking this. It is asked as a measure of safety, avoiding danger from live wires being broken and hanging, as well as unsightly poles, and danger from them.

It is to be hoped that the petition of the business people will be granted, and while the petition is only for Main street, we would like to see it apply to the Borough in any and all parts.

Most men would be fine fellows if they had their theories amputated and had their heads replaced.

GOOD POINTS OF CUPBOARDS

Save Steps by Storing Utensils and Food Supplies Near Part of Room to Be Used.

Have you plenty of well-planned cupboard and shelf space for storing utensils and food supplies? Save steps by grouping similar things and placing them near the part of the room where they will be used. For instance, suggests the United States Department of Agriculture, keep mixing bowls and spoons and such dry materials as sugar and flour near each other if possible. Narrow shelves often economize space better than wide ones and are easier to clean and keep in order. Long cupboards are on the whole preferred to those reaching to the ceiling, and are not so likely to become "catchalls."

WIND-FALL CAMP.

There's a wonderful camp lying
Not far from the quiet town.
Where the wild flower swings,
And the Robin sings,
And Colegrove Brook comes down,
This a camp of delight and of laughter.

Where peace all the woodland fills,
This the camp that lies Nearth the summer skies,
In the heart of the Colegrove Hills.

The road to that wonderful camp
Leads out from the gates of care,
And the tired feet
In the dusty street

Are longing to enter there,
And a voice from that camp is calling.

In the rush of a thousand rills,
Come away, away,
To the woods to-day.

To the heart of the Colegrove Hills,
Far away in that wonderful camp,
Where the clouds are always blue,
In the shadows cool,

By the foaming pool,
We may put on strength anew,
We may drink from the magic fountain.

Where the wine of life distills,
And never a care
Shall find us there,
In the heart of the Colegrove Hills.

SCARE THE CHILD.

When discussing childhood training,
Some folks find joy in explaining
About a frequent old time felling,
And a plenty of the same.

That unless I dust them plenty,
Long before those kids are twenty.

They'll be going down to ruin and that mine will be the blame.

And how keen they are at telling
Of obedience compelling
By a lavish use of hickory, laid on meanly without shame.

And they'll quote their Bible to you,
Showing how the child will fare
if you spare the rod that makes them strong and brings them fame.

Now, I've studied some "child raising,"
And I've listened to much phras-
ing.

On obedience from children, "specially the ones I've sired;
Seems to me that my kids mind
me,

And they're not afraid to find
me, Guess they know that "spoil the child" stuff, makes their daddy mighty tired.

Sure, sometimes they are provok-
ing,
And your temper's almost smoking.

And Solomon had so many that perhaps they drove him wild;
Still, for wisdom he gets credit,
But it seems he could have said it much more true if turned around say, "Spoil the rod and spare
the child."

NEWS OF THE SECTION and Exchange Clippings

THE CONSOLIDATED WINDOW GLASS
 plant of the Ingersoll company at Mt. Jewett closed down last Saturday for the summer. Owing to a heavy reduction in the price of manufacturing glass, about January 1, it became necessary to reduce the wages of the workers at this factory, and it is said, some of the workers had asked for an advance in their monthly wages, which was met by the company announcing that the wages would go out on Saturday.
 The plant is one of the main industries of the town on the bloun-tain, and its shut down will be felt in the business of the place.

FOREST TREES PLANTED IN McKEAN COUNTY.

Figures compiled by the State Department of Forestry show that this Spring 4,500 acres of forest land set out a total of 15,100 forest trees in McKean County. More trees would have been planted but the high demand for planting stock exhausted all the available nursery supply early in the season. Orders were placed for more than seven million trees. Reports indicate that most of the trees are growing well, and in time will produce excellent lumber.

In Potter County 15 tree plantations set out 29,803 forest trees and in Elk County 26 different owners of forest land planted 31,459 forest trees.

The nurseries operated by the State Department of Forestry shipped out more than three and one half million trees this Spring, the largest number ever sent out in a single planting season. This Spring, for the first time, forest trees were planted in every County of the State.
 This year's nursery output is fifty times greater than the total shipments ten years ago. The three and one-half million planted trees will reforest more than 2,500 acres of idle forest land and when grown up should produce 265,000 cords of wood.

Memorial day observance is still for the most part confined to arrangements of the soldier dead. But a sinister minor chord persists. The day is commercialized by many, and generally the cause of too many accidents.

 ed as waste at lead and copper re-

 perfected the discovery may revolutionize the industry.

Stung But Rewarded.

Patrons of a Long Island telephone line complained of a buzzing on the wires and a trouble hunter was sent out to locate the difficulty. He located it and he did something else,
 for he found that a swarm of bees
 had made a hive in the connection box on a telephone pole. The trouble hunter worked for hours and finally routed the bees with a fire extinguisher. He was badly stung, but he was rewarded by ten pounds of honey stored in the connection box.

Now the telephone book is displacplaints in Brooklyn, which has no city directory now, that it is hard to find the address of persons living there

 course, everybody of consequence
 ought to have telephone service now,
 but all of those who can't are of consequence to themselves and many of them are of consequence to others.

For Ten Dollars and Ninety Cents—This 30 x 3 1/2 Usco

THE 30 x 3 1/2 tire situation
 today is just this—

The man who buys an USCO at $10.90 is justified in believing that his money is going farther in tire value than it ever has gone or could go before.

Naturally he appreciates the quality of USCO. That was established long ago.

It is still fresh in his mind that USCO led the national market
 into the $10.90 price range.

The makers of U. S. Tires always intended the 30 x 3 1/2 USCO to be the highest value in its field.

At $10.90 it creates a new classification
 of money's worth.

INTEREST BEING TAKEN IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA FOR- EST LANDS.

The Summer meeting of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association
 in connection with the Convention of the Allegheny Highway Association will be held in Warren this year, and many of the foremost State and National Foresters will attend.

This is the first time that such a convention has been held in the western part of the State. Warren feels fortunate. It has been selected as the meeting place, and it expects a large gathering. Since the Federal Government has begun buying waste mountain lands along the Allegheny, a wide spread interest in forestry has developed.

The Allegheny Highway Association with nearly 10,000 members along the Allegheny River are advocates of a water-level highway from Salamanca N. Y. to Franklin, Penna thus connecting at the north with the New York State east and west systems and with the William Penn
 and Lincoln east and west systems
 via Pittsburgh.

STATE COLLEGE TO RAISE TWO MILLION DOLLARS TO ENLARGE ITS FACILITIES.

A campaign with the dual purpose of establishing Pennsylvania State College as the state university and of raising a fund of $2,- 000,000 for health and welfare buildings was announced at State College
 by President John M. Thomas. It is proposed to make the present college an institution with facilities for giving university instruction to all qualified Keystone boys and girls who may wish to enter.

The $2,000,000 fund will be devoted to the erection of immediately needed residences for young men and women, physical education buildings for both, a student's union, a variety hall and a hospital.
 The present hospital has only eight beds for a campus population of more than 3,700.

The Pennsylvania State College
 now has an enrollment of 3,200, exclusive of the summer session, which this year will have 3,000 students. One thousand qualified applicants were refused admission
 last year because of lack of housing and teaching facilities. Of this number 450 sought and failed to get into the school of engineering, which is the largest in college in point of attendance, with 1,180 students.
 Lack of equipment and an insufficient teaching staff necessitated the refusal of these qualified men.

Advocates of a change in name from the state college to that of the state university declare it would imply recognition of the present size and scope of instruction at Penn State. Only one other institution in the country of an equal number of students and none with the extensive courses of Penn State
 still bears the name of college.

ADVANCE OF 25 CENTS IN PENNSYLVANIA CRUDE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 5.—An increase of 25 cents a barrel in the price of Pennsylvania crude oil was announced when the market opened Monday. All other grades quoted were excepting Cornish, were up 25 cents. The new prices were: Pennsylvania crude, $7.50; Cornish unchanged at $1.60; Cabell $2.30;
 Seneca $2.15; Somerset, light
 $2.20 and Ragland $1.25.

BUSINESS RESUMING

The near future for Smethport looks bright, much more so than for several years. Just now operations in several lines are beginning and manufacturers in some other lines report a marked improvement. Locally, this is in addition to the general improvement in nearly all lines of business. The exceptions are the coal business, and the transportation problem, both of which are being solved by a reduction of rates equal to 10 per cent less than at present.

There is some building going on here and some others in contemplation. The new Masonic building will probably be erected, commencing construction a paved road between here and Kiskadee.

A large number of men are now at work constructing a paved road between Smethport and Kiskadee, and when the last link is constructed between Kiskadee and Mt. Jewett, continuous line of paved road will extend from Warren to New York State at Olean. Fires have been lighted in the window glass plant at Smethport and about 200 men will soon be employed there.

The rebuilding of the bottle plant bids fair to succeed and, as these factories usually run almost continuously, it will be a good thing for the people of the town.

There are other things that we might mention that are coming along all of which will add to the general prosperity of McKean county, amongst them being the construction of the electric lighting line from Mt. Jewett, others that Altogether it looks now as if General Prosperity was about to visit the country and that McKean county was to share in the results, we will give our readers as soon as matters are decided definitely.

PRODUCTION OF PETROLEUM

This country produced 455,639,000 barrels of oil in 1921 valued at $753,390,000, according to the United States Geological Survey. This production exceeded that of 1920 by 28,327,000 barrels and was the largest in the history of the oil industry.

GERMANY MAY GET LOAN

Approval by the reparation commission of the German reply to its ultimatum, and the decision to grant Germany a provisional moratorium for the year 1922, has cleared the way for consideration of a loan by the international committee of bankers meeting here. The decision was to be communicated to the bankers Saturday, and the committee was expected to meet Monday afternoon to begin its work of organizing a loan, that is if the members agreed with the reparations commission's decision.

While the reparation committee is in session, there will be no really important business, and that a loan of considerable proportions, probably more than $1,000,000,000, will be arranged within a few weeks, there is a tendency in some quarters to feel that the banks will be unable to find a solution recognizing the economic and political conditions of the problem.

There yet remains one document for the reparation commission to pass on, the annex concerning the foreign loan in Germany, which was not sent with the reply from Berlin, but this is understood also to be of a favorable nature.

Chairman Hull follows up a plan of relieving over the nomination of Beveridge with a cry of joy over the success of Pinchot. In view of the fact that the Democrats seem to be so well satisfied with the results of recent Republican primaries, may be a motion to make the election unanimous would be in order.

CLOSURE RULE

Republican senators last week committed themselves to the movement designed to bring about amendment of the existing Senate rule permitting unlimited debate. By a vote of 32 to 1 the Republican Conference decided to draft and press a new closure rule.

Whether the closure effort would be made while the tariff bill is pending was not decided. A committee was appointed to draft the new closure rule and another majority conference will be held to it a time to bring it before the Senate.

THE SERPENT OF DOGMATISM

It but carries out the contention of the thoughtful, that so few newspapers in the United States have taken on only passing interest in another evidence of the decadence of American ideals, as evidenced by the introduction recently in the Kentucky Legislature of a bill to forbid the teaching of Evolution in the educational institutions of that state.

To the student of history this manifestation of religious dogmatism in this age is more than startling surprise. It is a danger signal, as red and glaring as any of the many that have been displayed in this country in the past four years.

It is a danger signal of the growth, the rebirth, of that worst characteristic of human nature, blind ignorance, which sets itself up as the last word in fact, and says with bloody history, that beyond that point none shall pass, no science shall dare delve, no investigator shall seek, no progress shall be made.

It does not take highly educated men to have a smattering of knowledge of the retardation in progress that have resulted from this dogmatism throughout the history of the world, of the great men and women, pioneers in the advancement of man's life, who have been imprisoned, tortured, banished, and executed because of the propagation of scientific facts.

Most of us have read of the torture and execution of Galileo, for daring to tell the people that the earth was round; the persecution of Columbus, and of the thousands who have died under the blind fury of the dogmatism opposing the questioning of the unscientific, and absolutely untenable nonsense connected with its teachings of alleged facts that today even uneducated people know to be false.

The danger signal is up and flashing continuously. Thinking men should heed it. Fortunately the bill against the teaching of evolution in the Kentucky Legislature failed of passage by one vote, but it may not be reintroduced at some later date.

Our institutions of freedom of press and speech, separation of church and state, local government, and other of the ideals of the fathers of the Nation, have received terrible blows in the last few years. Will these blows finally prove fatal to our institutions and our actual liberty?

STATE COLLEGE AUTO TOUR

Farmer's Week at State College begins Wednesday, June 14, and those interested in being there will start from Port Allegany at nine o'clock Tuesday morning, June 13th. The route will be over the Jersey Shore Turnpike to Lock Haven and State College. Please notify the Farm Bureau if you intend going in order to make reservations. It is a good plan to take along an extra tire or else a blow-out patch and inner tube as accidents are apt to happen.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Carlson have moved out of the handsome apartment recently built by Chase Massey on West Main street, and will reside there. Mr. Carlson succeeded to the head of the Highway Department.

out sufficient funds in the bank, pleaded guilty of larceny and was sentenced to the Huntington reformatory. The young man gave gambling as the cause of his downfall.

William J. Brice of Derrick City, an old soldier, indicted for desertion and non-support, was directed to pay his wife $25 per month after the family differences had been canvassed.

Charles DeLair and Edward Parjo of Bradford, charged with the robbery of Mr. and Mrs. John Lamprey, an aged couple living near Minard Run, pleaded guilty in court here Tuesday morning and were sentenced to serve from one and a half to three years in the penitentiary.

Giovanni Sanducci, charged with statutory rape in connection with the alleged abduction of his niece, a 14-year-old girl, entered a plea of guilty Tuesday afternoon and was sentenced to serve from two and one-half years to seven years in the penitentiary. This also was a Bradford case.

Deleters and Acquitted. Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Meter of Edinburg, indicted on a charge of making and uttering a forged check, were acquitted after trial by jury. The same two defendants also were acquitted of another charge, alleging the larceny of two time books owned by their former employer, P. J. Colgan, a contractor. Colgan, as prosecutor, was ordered to pay the costs of both cases.

No proof was adduced showing the fraudulent making or uttering of the check. The jury promptly returned a verdict of not guilty, placing the costs on the prosecutor. The jury returned a verdict similar to that in the first case.

Frank Edgerin of Mt. Jewett pleaded guilty to using automobile registration plates not intended for the vehicle on which they were used. He was fined $100 and costs. The cases of Frank Lapping and Joe Zampogna charged with assault with intent to kill were continued on motion of counsel for the defendants. The two men were alleged to have attempted to kill a youth near Mt. Jewett some months ago.

All business on the criminal calendar was finished Tuesday, and court adjourned at 3:15 o'clock. It will reconvene at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon for the hearing of motions.

WOOL MARKET

Last year some farmers who refused to pool their wool cut more money for it than the poolers got. That caused many poolers of last year to remain outside this year, and now some of them have sold their wool for less than the poolers can get.

They have whip sawed themselves and individually they have furnished another example of the fact that nobody can always hit the high price, regardless of the method of marketing. National Stockman and Farmer.

The price offered to the McKean County pool this year are 37c for Quarter and Three-eighths blood, 45c for fine wools and 27c for rejects.

THE GLASS SITUATION

Consensus of opinion in the window glass trade is that this month of opinion in the window glass trade apparently is that this month will bring forth big demand for this commodity and that before the month is out some of the most popular sizes will be scarce. There is not half a dozen hand plants operating at present, and the men who are working find it hard to keep going at their average speed, owing to the warm weather in evidence. It was learned during the week that some hand manufacturer's stocks were decidedly lower than they were expected to be at this time. Orders during the fore part of the week were more plentiful than any other time so far this year, regardless of the holiday interlude.

It would seem on a natural that the price of window glass would be affected by the demand. Several other building materials are slightly increasing in price. Labor, as it becomes scarce is demanding higher wages in the building trades. The plumbers, for instance, in New York are asking $16 a day, while the carpenters in Pittsburgh, beginning with June 1, receive an extra $1 per day.

OFFICIAL PRIMARY VOTE

Official count of the votes of the state wide primary on May 16, was completed at the state bureau of elections Saturday, showing Gifford Pinchot to have received 9,259 more votes than George B. Alter for the Republican nomination for Governor. Owing to the return of some doubtful votes in Allegheny as scattering the nominations in that party could not be worked out, but it appeared William J. Burke had won the Socialist nomination for the Governor term. He is already labor candidate. The Allegheny Socialist vote will also determine whether Lillie Wilson of Reading will be nominated for Governor as the way the vote stands Gifford Pinchot may win it.

ONE MAN CAR IS OPERATING HERE TODAY

The first of the one man car to be used in the future on the local lines of the Olean, Bradford & Salamanca Railway company, made its appearance on the West State street branch, Olean Tuesday.

The car has been remodeled throughout and is patterned after the street cars used in the larger cities. Entrance is made on and off the cars through the front doors which are operated by motorized conductor.

The engine has been thoroughly overhauled and has been finished in a dark green enamel.

Charles Schultz, a linotype operator of Salamanca and a former employee of the Democrat here, was a welcome caller in town on Saturday. Mrs. Schultz also came with him and will make a weeks stay with relatives and friends.

Common sense is so called because it isn't.

More people do their work and fail than do their best and fail.

ATLAS PORTLAND CEMENT

PROBABLY the first place you ever noticed concrete was in concrete sidewalks. This was only about twenty-five years ago. Today hardly any other kind is built.

Concrete has proved its economy, its suitability, its permanence. Even though most of those first walks were built before concrete construction was properly understood, some of them are still giving good service.

Today your dealer is able to give you the same cement that has stood the test of over twenty-five years' use on all types of work. For more than a quarter century Atlas Portland Cement has been "the Standard by which all other makes are measured."

SHIPS THAT FATTEN SAILORS

Modern "Tankers" Are Now Blamed for Added Weight Taken On by the Seamen.

Shipping experts continue to argue regarding the advantages of oil fuel over coal. At present the question is occupying the attention of medical men.

The adverse effect of oil fuel upon such surfaces as steel, canvas, rope and other shipping accessories are widely known. Ship doctors are now divided on the question as to whether it is harmful or beneficial in its effect upon sailors. A writer in London Times writes:

Sailors on oil-fired vessels are fatter and plumper than those who work on coal-fired ships. Some naval surgeons declare that the fattening effect is produced by the slight fumes exhaled by the dependent oil fuel engines, while the seamen, and maintain that the former are fat simply because they have less work to do.

"Oil-burning ships" is one of the latest expressions in the world for fattening superfluities. It is hard work that has to be done in a high-speed all-day. Ships with each other, finger, and even after the exertion is finished, the sailors still have a few more ounces of fat deposited to work off in the morning. The men who are employed in cleaning a vessel after a bout of coal ship. On the other hand, oil-fired ships perform the task in about three hours.

Doctors are asking themselves: "Is the fat a healthy fat, or of injurious nutritive growth?" If it happens to be the latter, it will not prevent a hole from appearing in it; and if it cuts through doubly, it can, as what will oil fuel accomplish in the case of human beings?

"Fatter" hands are noticed that after two or three voyages they begin to put on flesh.

FAMED FOR ITS MARASCHINO

Dalmatian Town of Sebenico Really Has Little Right to Other Claims to Honors.

Sebenico, a town of 15,000, is the capital of the Dalmatian coast. It is famous for its maraschino. The town is situated on a hill, and is surrounded by a wall. It is a very old town, and has a long history. It was founded by the Romans, and was later taken over by the Venetians. It was then taken over by the Austrians, and finally by the Italians. It is now a part of Yugoslavia.

It is to be feared that Sebenico had a sadly ignominious origin, says the Manchester Guardian. The name is said to be derived from a word that means the fort from whence landlarks watched the sea for ships which they attacked and plundered. The little Dalmatian pirates' lair, remained quite unknown until selected in the early Middle Ages by Croatian kings for their favorite residence. Apart from possession of a picturesque landlocked harbor, the only cathedral in the world built entirely of stone and metal, and the ancestral house of the Orsini, Sebenico has few claims to distinction. However, by some people Sebenico will always be held in high honor for being the place where they make maraschino, an insidious liquor distilled from small black cherries.

The Wrong Saint.
Childhood's propensity for getting names mixed was well illustrated a Sunday morning in two ago, when little Richard, on the way to Sunday school with his mother and sister, met another little boy, with St. Vitus' dance.

Richard was deeply impressed by the incident and asked his mother what was the matter with the little boy.

"That child," the sympathetic mother replied, "has St. Vitus' dance." Back at home, Richard rushed in to tell his father of the happenings of the morning and, glared with the remark:

"And—and—and we saw a poor little boy who jerked all over. He had the St. Vitus' dance."

Only Fat Girls in His Office.
"I have found one employer whose 'bug' in hiring folks for his office is worse than the idea against bobbed heads and short skirts," laughed a young woman who was weary with hunting work.

"And what's that?"

"He won't hire any one—male or female—unless he has a fat, healthy, well-fed, well-cared-for look. I was talking to the girl who lets applicants in to see the boss. She was real sweet and kind, and she told me I ought as well not go in. I asked her why, and she confided to me that I was too pale, too delicate looking. This girl thinks it is just because he is known as an old tightwad and is selfish, and he doesn't want it said of him that even his office people look pinched and pale and ill-treated."—New York Sun.

A Day Dream.

"That was a smooth stock salesman in here just now."

"He was, indeed," said Mr. Dubwaite. "He hadn't been talking five minutes before I saw myself stepping briskly into a bank to deposit a few hundred thousand dollars, then strolling around in my tailor to order a winter outfit of a dozen suits and making an engagement with a friend of mine in the motor-business to look up the full styles in linens."

"What happened next?"

"Oh, I woke up, glancing hastily about to see if I was still sitting in the little old office and wished him 'good morning.'"—Birmingham Age Herald.

THE TELEPHONE GIRL.

If you were a telephone girl and stood at a switch-board in a rush hour and if some one took the telephone off the hook when there were forty other people doing the same thing within a minute, and if that person having waited ten seconds should ask you if you were asleep, how would you like it?

If you were a telephone girl and you had eighteen telephone wires with plugs at the ends inserted in eighteen connections, to enable thirty six people to talk, and there were seven of these close together and a couple of people hung up their phone and you pulled out of the maze the wrong wire, and sent two people off from talking, would you think it fair if either of the victims swore a little and asked you if you were not late last night?

If you were at the switchboard and some one asked for a connection and the person desired did not answer the telephone, and if the party calling called the receiver rapidly instead of slowly as he should, and the rattling of the phone hook did not register in the office, and it after a while he did get into communication with you would you like him to ask you if it would, no doubt, do us, all you thought you were enjoying a pink tea?

good to put ourselves in the other person's place whenever we are inclined to find fault with public service. Gas, electric light trolley car, telephone, it is all the same. The employees generally do their work as well as they can.

Now Believe London Is Dead.

The Dunes are at last convinced that Jack London is dead. A rumor had been widely circulated among them to the effect that the American author was living a secluded life on a South sea island and would not emerge until he had finished a voluminous novel. A young Dane returned to Copenhagen the other day, fresh from San Francisco. He said he had taken a walk with Mrs. Jack London, near the London's California home. Coming to a boulder, he leaped over it. Mrs. London said: "Do you know what you have just done?" The Dane confessed his ignorance. "You have jumped over my husband's grave," she said. The Dane apologized for his seeming lack of respect, took the next train for South Brooklyn, and embarked on the Oscar II for the Danish capital, where he related his experiences. Jack London's Danish publisher, Herr Martin, said: "I never did quite believe that rumor."—New York Evening Post.

And Now the "Finale-Hopper."

That section of Manhattan called the Aroplods of America, extending from Riverside drive to Morning-side Park, has a new designation for ultra-modern girls—"finale-hoppers." These are the young women who are a year ahead of the present or think they are doing now what the rest of their sex will be doing at some time in the future.

A finale-hopper is never in style. She is a trailblazer, a pathfinder. She anticipates style. As soon as what she is doing is taken up and adopted by the crowd she drops it and turns to something else that is absolutely new. That applies to music, art, dancing, dress and even sleep. She is ever on the still hunt for anything fresh that has not before been done or known. Raymond G. Carroll, in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Improving on Nature.

"I placed an autumn leaf in the park and took it to the station. Showing it to the man with the wonderful relatives, I said: 'Here's that for an initiation leaf made out of a very fine grand old leather.' 'Largely,' asked the man with the wonderful relatives, 'passing his fingers over the third surface,' he remarked: 'My uncle used to make initiation leaves.' 'I suppose,' I queried, 'that they were much better than this one?' He looked at me in pity and cheerfully said: 'THAT they was.'—Exchange.

CAUGHT THREE BEARS IN POTTER COUNTY.

Coudersport, June 6.—To Dewey Penn of Wharton, Potter county, goes the distinction of capturing three wild black bears at one time and in a single inclosure. On Saturday morning this well known Potter county hunter was astounded to find an old she-bear and two good-sized cubs in his trap on Black Swamp run, two miles above Wharton.

Gaule Protector Harry Van Cleave and C. E. Lague, of Potter county, arrived late Saturday afternoon and quickly succeeded in getting each bear into a separate shipping crate. This required great care for had the old she-bear become aroused she undoubtedly would have killed the cubs, either in a fit of frenzied rage or on account of a desire to save them from supposedly worse fate.

The animals were loaded onto a car at the Hull station of the Buffalo and Susquehanna railroad. They then were shipped to Altoona and released in the Rob's Creek Game Preserve near that place last evening.

The three captured Saturday makes a total of 16 that have been taken alive and shipped to game preserves in other parts of Pennsylvania in the past year since beavers became so numerous in Potter county that it was impossible for farmers in certain sections to raise bees and livestock without suffering great losses. Seven black bears have been taken in pens this year.

Dewey Penn, the man in whose trap the bears were caught, is richer by $75, for the Pennsylvania Game Commission pays $25 a piece for bears captured in Potter county.

Honey and ants oil were used to attract the bears to the pen.

The inclosure was a small log affair with a single entrance. The weighted door was held up in such a manner that if the bait at the far end of the pen were disturbed it would drop with a bang. Just how how all three bears got inside, the small trap at once is not known, but it is thought that the old bear insisted on the youngsters coming with her before touching the bait.

BURGARS ENTER RESIDENCE ON CONGRESS ST.

Bradford June 6.—The opportune fall of an ironing board, undoubtedly saved Mrs. Myron Mathon of Congress street from being robbed of much valuable property, for the board fell just as a robber was about to crawl through the pantry window at her residence and scoured the intruder away.

This attempted burglary took place early Sunday morning. The robber cut a hole in the pantry window, reached through the opening and unlocked the catch, then raised the window. Inside there is a shelf across the window and on this were culinary articles. When the thief discovered the presence of all those he removed them all through the window and placed them on the lawn. There was a coffee pot, dishes and many other articles which were standing on the lawn when Mrs. Mathon arose Sunday morning.

After the dishes had been taken from the shelf the visitor then started to get through the window, but just then the ironing board, which stood near, fell with an awful crash and he probably thought some one was coming down stairs for it stopped his entry into the house and the burglar.

That the thief had a cart with him, with which to carry away loot, was indicated by the tracks near the window. The attempted burglary was reported by Mrs. Mathon to the police.
